British Values

We have taken British values and decided to make them more children friendly, we incorporated the British values into our 'Greenacres life values'. We promote these with our parents and have them as part of our curriculum. We have life values boards in each building. The values are simple but have positive influences such as being kind to each other, being interested and respectful of others diversities and beliefs, making a difference by contributing to our environment and in general challenging negativity and being positive about our world. Our theory is if we can help children feel good about themselves & their lives, it may just give them the strength and resilience to challenge any strong influences that don't sit comfortably with them as they grow up.
